

The Iowa Agribusiness Radio Network, with main studios in Des Moines, Iowa seeks to add a member to its Iowa-based team of farm broadcasters. We are looking for an individual who is a self-starter, professional, possesses good journalism skills and can demonstrate proficiency specific to producing broadcast-ready, audio and video files. This team player will have programming responsibilities on day one and will need to be accustomed to working with deadlines and detail. This applicant will also be digital savvy demonstrating skills that include content management software such as Audition, Premiere Pro, WordPress, Constant Contact and WordPress, Microsoft applications and Google based products including Google Ad Manager.

Duties will include travel to cover Iowa-based news events and other events such as NCBA, Commodity Classic, Farm Progress Show and others. Membership into the National Association of Farm Broadcasting will be offered after six months as a network employee. Competitive salary, performance bonus, health insurance and paid vacation will be offered to the successful candidate.

For more information contact:

Russ Parker

Manager, Operations

Iowa Agribusiness Radio Network

russ@iowagribusinessradionetwork.com