

Wanted- Full Time Broadcaster/Writer for Regional Farm and Ranch Network

The Radio Oklahoma Ag Network, based in Oklahoma City, is looking to fill the position of Associate Director of Farm Programming. Our Network broadcasts across Oklahoma and portions of Kansas, Missouri, Texas and New Mexico.

That person will be producing radio reports on the 45 station Radio Oklahoma Ag Network- both agri-news as well as markets. This person will also be doing interviews with the top newsmakers in our state as well as nationally in the world of agriculture. Those interviews will be written up as stories for our award-winning website and daily farm and ranch news email.

Produced Radio reports would consist of Updated market reports, short and long-form farm news updates, and commercial production. Experience with Adobe Audition or Cool Edit a plus.

We will consider those who have limited radio experience if they have experience in writing and are knowledgeable in farm and ranch policy issues, as well as the latest technology impacting and utilized by farmers and ranchers.

A significant part of the daily duties in this position is managing our digital platforms mentioned above as well as pushing stories we produce on social media.

This person will do those interviews via telephone and live-in person at meetings across Oklahoma and beyond. He or she might represent us at the State Capitol, a Statewide Convention, a local Field Day or at one of several National Meetings we travel to and cover in person.

We also are engaged in covering our youth- 4-H and FFA are always a key part of our mix- we cover the largest junior livestock show in the world like it's a sporting event- and we do the same as we go and cover speech and leadership competition at the National FFA Convention in Indy.

You will work directly with our farm broadcast team- including our Senior Farm Broadcaster Ron Hays and our Director of Farm Programming, KC Sheperd.

Our owners, the Bob Funk Family of Companies, are passionate about agriculture and ag youth- and have no doubt this media franchise will be around for many years to come.

Send resume and samples of on-air work and writing to Ron Hays at ron.hays@radiooklahoma.net or call to discuss your interest- 405-473-6144.